The World's Second Country to Print Fishing Fly Stamps

Designed and Painted by Barry Kent

Ciskei (/sɪsˈkeɪ/ or /sɪsˈkaɪ/) was a Bantustan in the south east of South Africa, almost entirely surrounded by what was then the Cape Province, and possessed a small coastline along the shore of the Indian Ocean.

Under South Africa's policy of apartheid, land was set aside for black peoples in self-governing territories. Ciskei was designated as one of two homeland or "Bantustan" for Xhosa-speaking people. Xhosa speakers were resettled there and to Transkei, the other Xhosa homeland.

The name Ciskei means "on this side of the Kei River" (cf. Cisalpine), and is in contrast to the neighboring Bantustan of the Transkei.

About the Stamps

Barry Kent, formerly of High Flies, Ltd, was commissioned to design and paint this series of postage stamps for the Republic of Ciskei, Southern Africa. The new issue of stamps commemorate the trout breeding program in that country. The four stamp designs depict the life cycle of a Rainbow Trout and were issued on 6 June 1989.

With over 25-years of fly dressing and art experience in England, South Africa and the U.S.A., Barry Kent has secured a reputation as a truly fine international artist and fly dresser. The stamps and signed First Day Cover in this section of the fishing fly collection was personally given to Robert T. Burney as a gift while communicating with Barry Kent in March 2012.
